Humble Like Christ...

"Do nothing from selfish ambition or conceit, but in humility count others more significant than yourselves." (Philippians 2:3)

"I love mankind" says a famous comic strip character. "Its people I can't stand." Many of us may feel this way from day to day. People are not perfect and will (at times) sin against us. When this happens, it can cause us to become cynical or jaded. We begin to see the worst in people and focus more on self. This will always lead to division and tension in our relationships and lives.

Paul's words to us in Philippians are such an encouragement to put others before self, to humble ourselves and serve those around us. It can be tough to demonstrate this type of love to certain people in our life. While Paul is writing this letter he was facing his own issues with people in Rome. Also, he has heard there is division in the church at Philippi. His solution is to humble ourselves and be unified in Christ, who is the greatest example of humility that leads to unity. Let's follow the example of Christ and humble ourselves and serve those around us so that God may be glorified.
